Inefficient Machinery was a group exhibition by emerging artists at the Mafuji Gallery, East London. The exhibition included experimental and exploratory electronic, kinetic and new media projects by artists from the far east and Britain.

The Mafuji Gallery existed in a converted sewing factory in East London from 1999 - 2002 and produced a range of exhibitions offering a platform to emerging artists. An archive of the gallery's exhibitions is maintained at www.mafujigallery.org.uk
