Research Englands block grant calculation is made up of distinct elements, each based on different data sets.

Volume and quality are a key determinant in Research Englands mainstream quality-related research funding allocation, accounting for approximately 1.3 billion each academic year. These are measured in the Research Excellence Framework (REF).

Alongside QR funding, as part of its wider strategic institutional funding, during the current spending review period (between 2022 to 2023 and 2023 to 2024) Research England is also providing flexible funding for:

- enhancing research culture
- participatory research
- research that supports policy
